

SPRING 2024

SCHOOL DESIGNED PRACTICUM COURSES

Temple Law School is pleased to announce the following Spring 2024 School Designed Practicum courses. The individual description for each practicum sets forth what materials to submit, to whom you should submit the materials, and the application deadline. Placements for a given practicum will not be made until after the application deadline for that practicum.

A Practicum combines an experiential learning project with supervision and evaluation by a member of the full-time faculty. Some Practicum courses are designed individually by the student in consultation with a faculty member; others are recurring projects that faculty members sponsor, like those listed below.

Below is a table of contents grouping our School Designed Practicums in three broad categories: Confirmed, Pending Confirmation, and No Longer Accepting Applications. The practicum opportunities confirmed for next semester are further organized by application deadline date.

We encourage you to apply for any practicum opportunities that are confirmed or pending confirmation for Spring 2024. The information contained in Pending Confirmation section, including whether the practicum will ultimately be offered in Spring 2024, is subject to change. In the event we confirm that any of our practicums pending confirmation will not run in the spring, we will notify applicants and update this catalogue accordingly.

Students who wish to apply for more than one School Designed Practicum should email lawpract@temple.edu with a list of the practicums to which they wish to apply ranked in order of preference.

If you have additional questions or would like further guidance on Practicum selection for Spring 2024, please contact lawpract@temple.edu.

A. Application Deadline: November 17, 2023

ENVIRONMENTAL LAW PRACTICUM (CLEAN AIR COUNCIL)

There up to two slots available in this practicum supervised by Professor Amy Sinden. This practicum will be 10 hours a week for 3 credit hours.

Clean Air Council is Pennsylvania's oldest environmental and health non-profit organization and has been working to protect everyone's right to a clean and healthy environment for over 50 years. The Council pursues cutting-edge litigation, participates in federal and state rulemakings, watchdogs environmental permitting, and champions impactful policy reforms; all in close collaboration with impacted communities.

The Council was founded in 1967 by a group of forward-looking community leaders, policy makers, and progressive business leaders. Headquartered in Philadelphia, the Council made a name for itself by the mid-1970s as the result of two major achievements: establishing and distributing a daily regional air quality index report (still in use today); and forcing Pennsylvania to implement its vehicle emissions testing program. The Council is continuing this tradition of tackling big challenges through programs to address the public health and environmental threats caused by shale gas extraction and distribution, climate change, developments in our energy markets and infrastructure, and major stationary sources of air pollution.

The Council maintains an active litigation docket addressing a broad range of environmental health issues in Pennsylvania and beyond. The Council regularly brings cases in both state and federal courts and before agency tribunals, such as Pennsylvania's Environmental Hearing Board and Public Utility Commission. We litigate a wide variety of issues within the realm of air quality regulation, water law, and energy law. The Council also engages in a significant amount of policy work, leading the charge on a variety of issues in Pennsylvania such as Pennsylvania's implementation of carbon cap and trade and regulation of methane emissions.

Students participating in the practicum will make substantive contributions to the Council's legal program and, with full support from senior attorneys, will take on staff attorney-level tasks. Students have an opportunity to assume a great deal of responsibility, while receiving mentoring from a close-knit group of environmental attorneys.

Qualifications:

- Completion of 1-2 years in accredited J.D. program
- Demonstrated passion for public interest law and/or environmental protection
- Excellent writing and analytical skills
- Strong interpersonal and communication abilities

- Substantive knowledge of land use law, administrative law, environmental policy, and the federal environmental statutes—especially the Clean Air Act—preferred but not required.

Law students who wish to be considered for the position must submit a cover letter addressed to “Environmental Law Practicum Selection Committee – Clean Air Council”, resume, and writing sample of no more than ten pages. If you are interested, please forward your application materials to lawpract@temple.edu by 12:00 pm on November 17, 2022.

EILS is in the heart of a low-income Latino neighborhood in North Philadelphia. EILS offers convenient, affordable and culturally accessible services to the most underserved immigrants, with a focus on the Hispanic community. CHILD ADVOCACY UNIT PRACTICUM (DEFENDER ASSOCIATION OF PHILADELPHIA)

There are up to two slots available for third year law students in this Practicum supervised by Professor Sarah Katz.

The experiential learning project offered with this Practicum is with the Defender Association of Philadelphia. The Defender Association of Philadelphia is a nonprofit law firm created in 1934 by a group of lawyers dedicated to the belief that everyone, regardless of income, deserves the highest quality legal representation. Firmly rooted in Philadelphia for over 80 years, the Defender Association stands as the city’s vanguard for indigent defense.

The Child Advocacy Unit (CAU) is a specialty unit within the Defender Association that ensures quality representation inside and outside of the courtroom for children involved in dependency and adoption cases. The CAU was created in 1974 and contracts with the City of Philadelphia to represent children, ranging from birth to twenty-one years old, who have open dependent petitions in Family Court; are victims of neglect, physical abuse, sexual abuse, or abandonment; are truant or incorrigible; are facing mental health challenges; need additional supports as they transition into adult living or desire to re-enter the dependent system through a Resumption of Jurisdiction Motion. The CAU utilizes a multi-disciplinary approach to child advocacy by teaming attorneys and social workers to represent our young clients. They represent most of the dependent children in Philadelphia, and presently have (16) staff attorneys and (34) social workers/social service advocates.

In this Practicum, students are expected to participate in all aspects of representing our clients, who range in age from birth to 21 years of age. The practicum curriculum will focus on how to collaboratively work a case using a strengths-based lens of looking at the family and how to navigate the system for the maximum benefit to the client; our multi-disciplinary team approach (social worker/attorney); courtroom experience (permanency and dispositional hearings); developing interviewing, counseling and investigatory skills; research into community programs and services for our clients and their families; collaboration with outside agencies to meet the needs and welfare of our clients; ethical considerations inherent in our dual role of counsel and guardian ad litem; developing the appropriate tools to successfully communicate with clients and conduct legal research, analysis and writing as needed.

This Practicum is ideal for law students who are committed to, or interested in learning more about, a career advocating on behalf of children in the dependency arena and the child welfare system, or a career in public interest law. Students will need to commit to a minimum of 6.5 to 10 hours per week to this Practicum depending on the number of credits they prefer. If you are interested in this opportunity, please forward a cover letter/statement of interest addressed to the “Child Advocacy Unit Selection Committee” and a resume to lawpract@temple.edu by 12:00 pm on December 4, 2023.

Advocates will then go to Unemployment Compensation Hearings and represent their clients before hearing referees, which includes direct examination, cross examination, and the use of documentary evidence. Students will also write appeal briefs to the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review. EAP expects students to work collaboratively to develop best practices and support other advocates. Philadelphia Legal Assistance has a substantial state appellate case load and students may have the opportunity to draft court briefs.

This Practicum is ideal for law students who are committed to, or interested in learning more about, employment law, and who are eager to work with and represent clients. Students must commit to 6.5 hours per week for a 2-credit practicum. This includes attendance at 2 to 3 mandatory training sessions, participation in “case rounds” in which you will discuss your cases, teach, and learn from the experience of other advocates, and availability for at least two blocks of time (three hours each) Monday through Friday between 8:00 am to 4:00 pm to take clients. All other times may be fit around your schedule and can include remote work. If you are interested, please forward your resume and a cover letter/statement of interest addressed to “Employment Law Practicum Selection Committee - EAP” to lawpract@temple.edu by 12:00 pm on December 4, 2023. In your cover letter, please note any foreign language skills (which is not a criterion but will be helpful in case assignment should you be selected).

CRIMINAL JUSTICE PRACTICUM (PHILADELPHIA LAWYERS FOR SOCIAL EQUITY)

There are two slots available for second- and third-year law students in this Practicum supervised by Associate Dean Kristen Murray.

Philadelphia Lawyers for Social Equity (PLSE) offers free legal representation to low-income clients who are trying to clear their criminal records so they can qualify for better jobs, housing, credit, and other benefits. (By way of background, if someone is arrested in Pennsylvania and charged with a crime, even they never had to attend court or were later found not guilty after a trial, or anything in between, they still have a criminal record. Unless it is sealed or a judge orders it to be erased or expunged, that criminal record is permanently available on the internet to the public. The only way to get a conviction off your record, even if it was committed decades ago, is to get a pardon from the Governor of Pennsylvania.) Through its Criminal Record Expungement Project, PLSE files petitions for expungement that, after a hearing, could result in a judicial order that commands the City and State police and other agencies to remove the information of that person’s criminal history from their record. PLSE files over 2,400 expungement petitions per year. Additionally, PLSE has a growing community education and outreach program.

In this Practicum, students will have a range of duties, with tasks varying week to week. Students will conduct intakes at community clinics and on the phone, draft and review expungement petitions, inform clients about updates in their case, and accompany the attorney to court. Students who are certified legal interns under Rules 321 or 322 of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court may have the opportunity to argue motions for expungement in court. Students will conduct research and write legal memoranda. There will be opportunities for public speaking and community presentations, as well as attending and tabling at community events. Students will have an opportunity to have a hand in their rapidly evolving pardon project and help develop the curriculum. PLSE is a rapidly growing small organization, and as such, there are constantly evolving projects that require creativity, flexibility, and initiative.

This Practicum is ideal for students with an interest in criminal justice, public policy, and public interest. Students must commit at least 10 hours a week to this Practicum. The experiential component of this Practicum will be in-person. If you are interested, please send a resume and cover letter addressed to “Philadelphia Lawyers for Social Equity Practicum Selection Committee” to lawpract@temple.edu by 12:00 pm on December 4, 2023.

The student will work on issues surrounding a prosecutor's office's compliance with the constitutional requirement to turn over all favorable, material evidence to the defense prior to trial pursuant to Brady v. Maryland. Brady violations produce wrongful convictions, burdensome litigation, expensive legal settlements, and renewed trauma to victims—the District Attorney is firmly committed to preventing them.

The student will work directly with a special advisor to the District Attorney (as well as other ADAs) to examine past and present Philadelphia DAO Brady practices and research other jurisdictions' approaches to ensuring prosecutors' full compliance with Brady.

Interested students should have already taken Criminal Procedure II or a comparable course (e.g. Death Penalty). If you are interested in this opportunity, please forward a cover letter/statement of interest addressed to “Matthew Stiegler and Sarah Boyette,” resume, transcript, and short writing sample to lawpract@temple.edu by 12:00 pm on December 4, 2023. ADMINISTRATIVE LAW PRACTICUM (PHILADELPHIA BOARD OF ETHICS)

There is one slot available for second-, third-, and fourth-year law students in this Practicum.

The experiential learning project offered with this Practicum is with the Philadelphia Board of Ethics.
